HUMBOLDT RESEARCH PROFESSORSHIP

Nominate top researchers and bring world-class experts to your institution!

Humboldt Research Professorships attract outstanding researchers to Germany from around the world, allowing them to pursue innovative and cutting-edge research at universities and research institutions without having to give up their positions abroad.

About the professorship:

- Research funding: up to €1.5 million (theoretical) / €3 million (experimental) for five years
- Covers research in Germany including staff, equipment, travel, and project expenses
- Personal allowance: up to €10,000 per month for living costs in Germany
- Open to all academic disciplines and nationalities

The programme offers long-term funding, supports the creation of research groups in Germany, and fosters international collaborations whilst providing host institutions with flexible options for integration and anchoring.

Nomination & eligibility

- Nomination by German universities or research institutions only (no self-nominations)
- Target group: researchers from abroad with highly innovative, unconventional, and audacious research records
- Candidates must have been mainly living and working outside of Germany for the last five years
